MCCOY announces new leadership for Board of Directors

INDIANAPOLIS – The Board of Directors for the Marion County Commission on Youth, Inc. (MCCOY) has recently elected new officers.

Melissa Gardner, who works for Taft Stettinius & Hollister LLP, is serving as chair. A. J. Allen, with Eli Lilly and Company, is serving as vice chair. The secretary position will be covered by Charles (Chris) Engel, who works with Clark, Quinn, Moses, Scott & Grahn LLP, and the treasurer position will be covered by Kevin Hampton, who works for the National Bank of Indianapolis.

“The leaders on our Board of Directors are thoughtful, caring visionaries who will help MCCOY fulfill its mission,” said John Brandon, president and executive director of MCCOY. “Our organization thrives in large part because of the talented and compassionate individuals who serve on our board. They care about youth issues and help us accomplish goals to improve the well-being of children and teens in our community.”

Brandon and the MCCOY staff would like to thank past Board of Directors officers, as well as all directors and committee participants, for their dedication to the organization. For a full list of current participants on MCCOY’s Board of Directors, please click here.

About MCCOY
